LOCAL BOND DRIVE NEARS HALF WAY MARK

With only four days of the Seventh Victory Loan past the Vulcan Loan Committee is pleased to report that Vulcanites have already subscribed 48% of their total. With 100 applications, sales have climbed to $100,050, only a few percent less than half our total quota of $225,000.

Although exact figures are not available, it is known that this is a much higher percentage than for a similar period in the previous loan.

Canvassers note with pleasure an eagerness on the part of citizens so far solicited to add to their share in the fast approaching Victory.

HERRONTON

Citizens Favor Forming of A.F.U. Bright Sayings of Children. New Zealand Service Men Visit Banff and Were Thrilled

Mr. Calvin Lowrey was a visitor to Banff and Lake Louise recently and had as his guests Lacs, White, Raynes and Wilmshurst of Waino, Maston and Auckland, New Zealand. Lacs Raynes and Wilmshurst got a good start when, on escorting some of the local girls on their second or third date, they found themselves being headed toward the preacher's residence. Asked if the girls' intentions were really serious, Mr. Lowrey informed them it was Leap Year here in Canada. It helped a little to reassure them when they were told that a Leap Year proposal is an old Canadian custom and no harm done. Lac "Scotty" White, lately migrated from the land of the heather to New Zealand, says that after collectors have canvassed the various sections of New Zealand cities, such as Irish and English residents, they then go to the Scottish residents who not only make up the former's share, but send their own allotment over the top. So he is very much perplexed over the Canadian views of his Scottish thrift. And so are we.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green and sister, Mrs. Herb Smith of Blenheim, Ont., are soon to visit in the district, at least their suitcases have arrived. Bob visited here last harvest, and maybe he likes the way we sling hash out here, or it may be the flavor of those ring-necked pheasants, or our wild ducks, or just the charm of the wide-open spaces. It couldn't be any stretch of the imagination be that he likes the folks.

Community Club
The Herronton Community Club met at the home of Mrs. Tom Green, with a goodly crowd in attendance. We had no song chosen for the opening, so we decided to tell our pet radio peevish, so everyone talked at once. When the president continued with the business, several ladies asked in surprise "Aren't we going to sing something?" Whereupon she countered with "What have we been doing the last half hour?"

The roll call was answered with bright sayings of children; and we heard about the little girl who prayed for rain, and got it; the little boy who marvelled at a thermometer in a brooder with a flock of baby chicks. "How silly, chicks can't read"; a Sunday school teacher was teaching a little girl to sing, "Jesus wants me for a Sunbeam." She liked the song, but when asked if she would like to be a sunbeam for Jesus, answered "Nope. That's no good. I want to be Jesus' little dog."

After the business Mrs. Davies presented the work of the Red Cross and was highly gratified at the response. Quite a lot of work was given out and it looks like we will be busy this winter. She also furnished a fine program of brain testing contests. Mrs. Walter Izyk and Mrs. Cecil Coy were hostesses and provided a splendid lunch with real home-made cake. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Tony Podmore at Herronton.

Alberta Farmers' Union
The Alberta Farmers' Union held a meeting at the Herronton hall, Thursday afternoon. As the harvest work is still hanging on and the farmers are pushing that as fast as they can this meeting was not so well attended as it deserved.

Those who attended were enthusiastically in favor of forming a local. Mrs. Tom Green was appointed provisional secretary until another meeting can be held when it is hoped a larger number will attend and a slate of officers can be elected.

Ladies Aid Supper
The Farrow Ladies Aid served a chicken supper Friday evening, so next day we were all tired and didn't want any breakfast. It was a colossal feed, a colossal crowd, a marvellous night.

Rev. Horace Burkholder of Crescent United Church was guest speaker, and his experiences in missions and community houses in the slums of

Pension Facts For Armed Services

Richard Hale, chief pension officer of the Canadian Legion, says that the pension question is little understood and amounts payable very often exaggerated. Pensions do run as high as $150 in exceptional cases where the man is totally disabled, but it is equally true that the majority of pensionable disabilities are much smaller.

Determination of the amount of disability pension in respect to a disease is a highly technical matter based on medical opinion as to degree of impairment of the organs affected.

Here are some percentages generally allowed. A married man with no children and 100% disability pension gets $100 a month. For the first dependent child he gets an additional $15 a month, $12 for the second child and $10 for each additional child with no maximum amount.

A single man on total disability gets $75 per month. The loss of a thumb is 20%; loss of index finger 10%; loss of middle finger 5%; loss of hand or foot 50%. This 50% rate applies up to just below the elbow or knee. An amputation is above the elbow or knee it is 60%; the middle of leg or arm 70%; above that it is 80%. The loss of an eye brings 40% pension. A stiff knee joint, unbenignable brings 20% pension, as does stiff ankle or elbow.

Foothills-Little Bow M. D. Convention

A most interesting discussion on municipal affairs was held. Honourable Mr. Gerhart explained fully the Government's Housing Loan Association which the delegates found most informative and of much interest. Mr. Soutter held discussions regarding changes in the Municipal Districts Act and new voting qualifications. He said it will endeavor to have requirements for voters in hospital trustee elections to be the same as for municipal councillors.

Officers elected for the ensuing terms were: D. H. Russell, president; O. B. McWilliams, vice-pres.; D. D. McQueen, sec'y-treas.

A banquet was held in the L.O.O.F. hall in the evening with Peter Dawson, M.L.A. as speaker.

EXPLORE FOR OIL ON SULLIVAN CREEK

Located near the source of Sullivan creek, 23 miles north-west of Longview post office in the southern end of Turner Valley, a new well was spudded in Saturday by Phillips Petroleum, in their maiden entry into Alberta oilfields. Phillips Petroleum is one of the largest independent operators in the U.S.A.

R. K. Clutter, field superintendent, says his company will proceed with further development of their 30,000-acre holdings if the initial well is successful.

VULCAN TO HAVE 'SHELL-OUT' THIS HALLOWEEN

Sponsored by the principal and staff of the schools and the Vulcan Elks' lodge, citizens of Vulcan will have the opportunity of supporting this worthy cause Halloween.

During the war the Kinsmen's clubs of Canada have been sending Milk to Britain for the under-privileged and children of the bombed-out areas. The shell-out tickets will be available at the stores and a canvass made of the town. Children will collect the tickets on Halloween and take them to the school where they will be checked in between the hours of 8 and 9:30. The Elks' lodge are donating prizes for the first and second boy's high and the first and second girls' high. There will also be prizes for the best costumes boys and girls.

In addition there will be a book prize for the room collecting the most tickets. In appreciation of the wishes of the sponsors, householders are requested to give the children tickets rather than money for the Milk for Britain fund. However, there is no objection to the children collecting money in the rural areas provided they have the approval of their parents.

The sponsors ask the public to give their generous support to this and especially ask the children to remember that the sacrifice on their part by giving up their treats on Halloween will do untold good to the Children of Britain.

Apples and cookies will be provided at the school.

PRELIMINARY HEARING FOR M. H. KENNELLY HELD HERE

F. P. GALBRAITH

F. P. Galbraith, publisher of the Red Deer Advocate and newly elected president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, has despatched the following message to all publishers of weekly newspapers in Canada as the Seventh Victory Loan campaign opens:

"It is from the rural districts that Canada draws her strength. Again and again governments and businesses draw their leaders from the farms the villages and the towns and in this war the farms, the villages and the towns and in this war the farms, the villages and the towns have proved their quality. Now the Seventh Victory Loan faces us. Once more the boys overseas are asking for our financial support. This time it is more important than ever for us to give it. The enemy is feeling but not off. We need to put in that knockout punch that will finish the fight. Buy more this time than you've ever done before and help finish the job."

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND FEED IN VULCAN-CHAMPION DISTRICT

About 8 p.m. on Saturday evening, fire destroyed the large barn of Mr. E. Hanies of the Vulcan-Champion district, and about forty tons of ham, mired feed.

No stock was lost but some implements were destroyed, and a bin containing 2000 bushels of wheat was ignited. 1500 bushels of this amount was able to be saved owing to the quick action taken by several of the neighbors who worked all night removing grain from this blazing inferno with a 25 foot loader.

Those taking part in the rescue work were: L. Schmeltke, R. Todd, Martin Goffenburg and Cpl. D. Fox, of No. F.I.S., Pearce.

Farm Security Act

Saskatchewan legislature will introduce a Farm Security Act at next session for protection of mortgagors and purchasers of agricultural land. J. W. Cormack, attorney-general explains:

"It will deal with the crop failure clause and the ban on evictions from the homestead in mortgage foreclosure actions. The legislation should not be controversial. It was definitely promised before the election, and the government has a solemn mandate to pass it."

"The crop failure provision will apply to all mortgages and agreements whenever made. The prohibition against evicting a farmer from his home will apply to all mortgages. The lieutenant-governor-in-council, however, may be given the power to exempt from the operation of the prohibition mortgages who are deliberately not playing the game."

UNIFORM TAXATION

TAXES levied and collected by municipalities are by no means a tidy, simple business. There is no uniformity in the levy. Three or more school units may enter into school taxation in one municipality each with a different school rate. There may be two municipal hospital areas in one municipality, or there may be no hospital rate in one section. Because of these variations the amalgamated levy may vary widely in different sections of one municipal district, and the bookkeeping is no simple matter.

It is quite conceivable that the whole setup under municipal administration is in a state of flux. The school units were organized before the municipal units, and consequently the two areas of administration do not conform with each other. Perhaps another stage of development will be to reorganize school units so that they each will fall within one municipal unit. In that way the school tax levy would be the same, and could take its place with the municipal tax and social service tax.

Another step in unification would be a municipal hospital scheme embracing an entire municipal division. A central hospital could serve one municipality, even on the present enlarged scale. This would provide service to the whole division. The trend of hospitalization is toward larger, better equipped hospitals, serving a greater area and population as opposed to a greater number of small hospitals. Under improved roads, distance is by no means the important factor that it was when the municipal hospital scheme was introduced 25 years ago.

If there was assurance that the present large municipal units would remain with some permanency, holding to the same boundary lines as at present there would seem good reason for alteration of school and hospital areas in conformity. But unless there is such assurance, it would be little use attempting a general "unit" plan. Even now there are rumors that the present large municipal areas are only a step toward a still larger unit of administration. We have adapted ourselves to a good many changes in the past few years. It might be a wise plan to link together the loose and unwieldy strands, before launching out on a still more confusing program.

One opinion advanced is that we are working toward a basic school levy to be applied provincially, but that also is a matter of speculation.

In any event as things stand at present, the differing boundaries in respect to municipal, school and hospital areas seem to call for readjustment.

produce new wealth. They merely divert the wealth from some and give it to others. Worse than this, however, they take the savings of the people and put them to non-productive uses, for these savings, collected as taxes, will not be available to make improvements and to create new industries hence will not increase the general pile of wealth of the country. The point then is, can we afford to do all this, and is it on balance necessary? Will it add to, or actually detract from, the wealth of the country?

Farmers, I suggest, should take an interest in these proposed new expenditures, for we may be certain of one thing; farmers will have to pay their full share of it all.—Major H. G. L. Strange, the Searle Grain Co., Winnipeg.

GRANTS — CAN WE AFFORD THEM

PROPOSALS are being made to spend hundreds of millions of dollars in the form of grant, allowances and gifts to certain groups of Canadian people, mainly to those who live in urban areas. If these grants are made, the percentage of the income from each person to be collected in taxes will be almost as high in peacetime as it is now during this war. This would impose extreme hardships upon most of the people, including farmers, for farmers, either directly in the form of income taxes or indirectly in the increased cost of the things they buy, always pay their full share of all taxes. These gifts, grants and allowances will not help to

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the Fourth in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

For complete information, write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

Home and Farm Ownership — The Man Who Wants His Own Business

There are two ways in which Canada's service people can have homes of their own. One measure, the Veterans' Land Act, provides assistance in financing homes on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, while the re-establishment credit may be used for purchase or building of a home in town or city. Low cost financing is available under the National Housing Act. Under the Veterans' Land Act, assistance is given in financing up to a maximum of $4800 for land and buildings. The veteran must be prepared to pay down 10 per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the property is then sold to him for this down payment plus two-thirds of the cost. This balance may be financed, if necessary, over 25 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. A further grant may be made for purchase of equipment.

The veteran is given title to the property, including the grant of 23½ per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the money for equipment, after he has lived up to his agreement for ten years.

If the re-establishment credit is used for a home, the veteran must be prepared to put up one dollar for every two dollars used from it. This type of assistance may be applied for at any time within 10 years of discharge.

FARMERS AND COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN

Veterans qualified for full time farming and for commercial fishing may receive assistance in purchasing a farm or home under the Veterans' Land Act in the same way as the veteran wanting a home on a small acreage, outside the high taxation area. In the case of full time farming, an additional grant of $1200 is available for purchase of stock and equipment, and in commercial fishing the commercial fisherman may receive up to $1200 to buy needed fishing equipment. To benefit under any of the three provisions of the Veterans' Land Act, the ex-service man or woman must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada.

TO ASSIST BUSINESSMEN

One purpose for which the re-establishment credit may be used is to buy a business or to provide working capital for a business. Here again application may be made at any time in the 10 years after discharge.

In addition to using the re-establishment credit in this way, people who start their own businesses, or farmers, may draw maintenance grants, during the period they are awaiting returns from the business or the farm. These grants may be paid in the first 18 months after discharge, for the period of service, and up to a maximum of one year.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

DISCUSSED BY H.O.

Although Col. Ralston was overseas at the time it was through Mr. Coldwell that General Simonds conveyed to Canada his satisfaction with recruiting of reinforcements. It looked better to have it come through that medium and no doubt Mr. Coldwell was glad to be of service. He and his party had been given every facility and consideration and had expressed themselves as duly grateful. The C.C.F. leader would approve the message too. No matter if recruiting lagged behind requirements, it should not disturb a party that was opposed to sending any troops to the war.

If he had had his way at the start no reinforcements would be required because there would be nothing to reinforce. Even volunteers would not be allowed to go over at our expense. Our contribution would be in materials sent C.O.D. to Britain. Later on, Hitler did something that changed the picture completely—he attacked Russia. After that, Canadian effort was unified except in the French districts where the incident had no effect whatever in changing the public attitude.

The effect of that act in Canada was not made apparent until the plebiscite was taken. Why it was submitted at all will remain a puzzle unless we assume that the government expected a large No majority that would shelve the conscription issue for all time. Ruling members of the government were convinced they could urge a Yes vote and rely upon the people polling a majority the other way. That would relieve them of the troublesome question and put the newly selected Conservative leader, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in the hopeless plight of sponsoring a war measure that had just been rejected by the electors.

They were not the only ones who believed that. The wisacre who writes this article thought the same. He too, had misjudged the effect in Canada of that attack on Russia. The Communists and their fellow travellers who previously had declared it to be a capitalistic and imperialistic war switched overnight. To help Russia they were even willing to help Britain. Their organization went into action immediately to ensure conscription. C.C.F. leaders also called upon their people to vote Yes. So, too, did Cardin and Godbout in Quebec, and the Yeses had huge majorities in every province but one. The issue was not on the shelf—it was in their hands.

It was dealt with in the usual manner. Bill 80 was introduced, giving the government power to impose conscription by proclamation if it was considered necessary. Cardin bolted and Coldwell who had urged a Yes vote led his party into the lobby with Cardin and the Nationalists. If the French Liberals were going to leave the government he might as well try to get them. If they were going to wander away, Mr. King himself, would prefer to see Mr. Coldwell as his political heir at law. He tried to capitalize it in the provincial elections in Quebec but the habitant had not forgotten that he had advocated a Yes vote.

It will be an evil day for Britain and Canada and the United States if we should ever fall out with Russia. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians pledge their fealty to that country instead of Canada or the Empire. In the U.S. the adherents of the U.S.S.R. can be counted in the millions. The claim for a "second front" arose from this fidelity to a foreign power against their own. They grasped the occasion eagerly not only because it would help Russia but also because it implied mistrust of Britain and the United States.

What power Germany had in other countries came mainly from men of German descent and was insignificant as compared to the influence Russia has in them and it comes not from people of Russian descent but from many other nationals including native Canadians or Britishers or Americans. We had better not start any row with Russia but pray that Russia will not start one with us for her fifth columns are many and strong and we have none in the Soviet Union.

Communism is all the more dangerous because it now masquerades under other names. It was a slick trick to dissolve or pretend to dissolve the Communist party. The odium attending the name was sloughed off and the same people with unchanged ideas and ideologies came out in new garbs. In Canada they became Labor-Progressives, although they don't labor except politically and have not been friendly or useful to labor, and are critical and destructive rather than Progressive. It is an attractive label, and is all the more dangerous because it has no relation to the contents of the bottle.

They are making progress. They have not given up any of their tactics, especially that one of lining up with more respectable parties with a view to boring from within. Rebuffs do not disconcert them. If the C.C.F. snubs them it is denounced as revolutionary; if any other should do the same it is reactionary. In the province of Ontario they elected a few members of the Legislature and Ex-Premier Hepburn has been hobnobbing with them and with the Liberals, from whom he has been estranged, and the C.C.F. They are against a coalition at Ottawa but want one in Toronto to defeat the Pro-Con. government. He is expected to regain the Liberal leadership and if he does it means that his feud with Mr. King has been ended by unconditional surrender. Unpredictable because erratic, he

Your Victory Loan Salesman Has This Letter

IT ENABLES YOU TO BUY VICTORY BONDS THROUGH YOUR BANK ON CONVENIENT DEFERRED PAYMENTS

● You say you want to do all you can to help Canada's war effort. Then you will keep on buying Victory Bonds. You will buy all you can.

You recognize the obligation that we, at home, owe to our men overseas. You know that stocks of munitions which our fighting men need are being depleted and must be replaced. You know that more munitions must go forward—and you will buy Victory Bonds to help pay for them.

You would like to be able to buy more bonds, you say. Well here is how you can do it. You can buy more bonds with money as you get it. Any bank will loan you the money to do this and the interest on the bonds will pay the cost of the bank loan. All you have to do is to sign the letter shown here—which you can get from your Victory Loan Salesman. You make a first payment of 10% or more when you apply for the bonds, and pay the balance at any time over a period of six months.

You will be doing an important war job when you do this. You will be helping your country and backing up her fighting men. You will get another reward, too, that will benefit yourself. You will have money, later on, when the war has been won—to do things you plan to do—money to improve your farm and your home.

You have Six Months to Pay the Bank for the Bonds—The Interest the Bonds Earn Pays the Bank Interest on the Loan. No further security is required.

is liable to do anything and no one should be surprised by his swing to the left. He won an election by denouncing the C.I.O. and immediately after was proposing legislation along most radical union lines. There was nothing phoney about his feud with Mr. King. It was exceedingly bitter, yet it did not hurt either of them politically. At its height, Mr. King won two general elections with increasing majorities and Mr. Hepburn won a provincial election and when he retired the provincial party went to pieces. These pieces he is now collecting with a view to merging them with the C.C.F. and Labor-Progressive and Communist. It is doubtful if the healing of the breach with Mr. King will do him as much service as the breach itself, but no one can doubt that he will be an ideal leader of the hermaproditic combination that he is trying to create.

Bob Edwards "Eye Opener"

Calgary Eye Opener, March 23, 1907
Exi. Radcliffe the Hangman

Radcliffe, the popular hangman, has decided to quit hanging murderers. It involves too much booze and has got on his nerves. Radcliffe always had to mop up a couple of bottles of hard stuff before going to the condemned man's cell with the little straps. He says in future he is going to give his victims a copy of the Eye Opener and tickle them to death. It is certainly more humane.

Lucky Admiral

Lord Charles Beresford, admiral of the British fleet, spent a day or two in Calgary this week and got off with-out being sold any lots in our far-famed additions. This is one of the most conspicuous exploits in this famous admiral's career.

Culture

Speaking of things educational, we are indeed glad to perceive a movement amongst some of the more reflective citizens of Calgary toward establishment of a Public Library. This is a much-needed institution in a city this size. Our young people after leaving school read little else but newspapers and current magazines. Of real literature, past and present, they remain in absolute ignorance. The Eye Opener is all well enough in its way, but Calgarians ought to tackle heavier stuff once in a while for a change.

Winnipeg's Double Life

Here is a story illustrative of a certain phase of Winnipeg's duplex social life. A gentleman leaving his club one night and being in a hurry to get home jumped into a hack and gave the driver the number and avenue where he resided. Away rumbled the hack. On arriving at his home he jumped out and disappeared within the portals. Some lady friends happened to be there spending the evening with his wife, playing pinochle, and what with one thing and another, he forgot all about the hack driver whom he had not paid. An hour or so elapsed when a ring came to the door. The lady of the house stepped to the door to see who was calling at that late hour. As soon as she opened the door a hoarse voice came booming through the air "Say is that guy going to stay all night?"

Boxing and Real Estate

There was a whale of a boxing match last Tuesday night in Calgary for the lightweight championship of Canada between Billy Lauder of Winnipeg and Kid Hoagland, a Calgary scrapper. The Winnipeg man won rather easily though the Kid made a creditable showing. Fred Lowe, the illustrious real estate expert, was unanimously chosen referee of the Lauder-Hoagland contest.

"I don't mind refereeing this fight," said Fred, addressing the crowd from the centre of the ring, "but I want it distinctly understood that my decisions go. I am a very busy man. This Glencoe subdivision of mine which I have put on the market is keeping me on the jump from morning till night. Boxing rules must be strictly observed by both men. Make no mistake about that. There will be clean break-aways, and I can assure you gentlemen that those Glencoe lots which I am selling for $275 and $500 will not be allowed to interfere with my decision which will be given on points. Of course if there is a knockout—

Shouts of "Commence the fight." "The fight for these lots has already commenced. They lie on the north bank of the Elbow river, about 100 yards west of the Mission bridge. As regards this contest it will be fifteen one minute rounds with one minute rests and I must request that the crowd refrain from joshing the principals."

Calling the two men to the centre of the ring the referee whispered instructions and asked if either of them would like to invest in Glencoe property.

"I've heard of the massacre of Glencoe," said Lauder.

"Well," answered Fred, "there will be a killing on this Glencoe stuff too. It's the only remaining good residential property left in the city."

The crowd: "Hurry up and get to work."

Lauder: "Well put me down for a couple of lots fronting the river."

Hoagland: "I don't mind taking a flyer in the $275 lots if you'll see that Lauder doesn't hit me in the clinches."

Fred: "All right old man it's a go. Glencoe commands the most picturesque view in the city and is the only residential site absolutely sheltered from the north and north-west winds."

The crowd: "Shut up! Hurry up! Call time."

The referee having successfully disposed of three lots to the contestants, bade them get ready and time was called.

At the close of the fifteenth round when Hoagland was taking the count, Mr. Lowe solemnly waved his arm up and down calling off the seconds: "One, two, three, six and nine months. Those are my terms on the lots. You're out."

MILO NEWS

Good Wife Places Treasures in a Basket and the Cry of the Auctioneer is Heard in the Land. And Lo the Man Asks: "Where Then Hast Thou Put My Woolies?"

(Evan Beechman, Correspondent)
Note—At an auction sale recently the owner's underwear was inadvertently put up for sale and inspired the following:

A Shortage of Shorts

And it came to pass that there came from across the sea to the goodly land of Milo, a man whose name was Arthur.

For many years he dwelt in this land and to his flock increased and his barns were filled to the rafters. Then said he unto himself: "Why should I tarry here? Of goods I have enough and more. I will arise and go to a more kindly land and dwell by the still waters of the Pacific and there will I spend my declining years. Then he arose and proclaimed throughout the land that he would hold an auction sale and great was the rejoicing thereat.

Thus it was that kindly neighbors did rush to Arthur's farm and prepare his goods for the hammer of the auctioneer. A certain daughter of the country found much cloth and wool and said to Arthur's wife "Lo and behold our country is at war and wool is more precious than gold, yea than much fine gold. I will gather these garments and will place them in a basket. And it shall be that when thy friends and neighbors are gathered together and shall see this treasure, great will be the rejoicing; therefore and there will be much bidding. And she did as she had spoken."

Thus it was that when the cry of the auctioneer was heard throughout the land and the basket of wool was offered, a daughter of Milo whose name was Beulah and who was the chosen wife of the auctioneer did see and desire this treasure and did outvie her neighbors in their bidding. For she said unto herself: "Lo these many moons have I been short of cloths wherewith to mop my floors and to polish my linoleums and to mend my family's underwear." And thus it came about that the goods fell to her lot.

A chill fell over the land and Arthur said unto his wife: "The days grow cold and summer shorts no longer suffice. Find thou then my winter underwear." The good wife searched high and low and made diligent enquiry. Then said she unto her lord and master "Ah woe is me, the handmaiden who waited upon me did err in her judgment. Thy five suits of woolies were placed in a basket and were sold with other rags at the auction sale. Then there arose from that house, great and woeful lamentation.

Now it came to pass that Beulah had shown her treasures to her friends and neighbors, all of whom were filled with envy. And Beulah said unto herself "Why should I hoard these treasures. Lo they are precious. I shall share them with my friends, thus will I gain their approval and I shall be endeared unto my people."

And it came to pass that when the wife of Arthur came to Beulah and sought to reclaim his private possessions that a frantic search was made among the people. Some had one garment, some another, here an arm, there a leg and yonder a dropseat. And all the people mourned that their possessions were taken from them.

And when the day was done and evening had drawn nigh, Beulah said "Ah woe is me that I did listen to the honeyed words of the auctioneer. Never again will I spend my hard-earned shekels for what appears to be a bargain."

Personals

While hunting recently Wilbur Godkins shot a duck wearing a legband of the Fish and Wild Life Association of Washington, District of Columbia.

A tree planting car, sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association visited Milo. In the afternoon a series of interesting movies were shown to the school students. A technicolor film on tree-planting traced the history of Western wheat raising and showed the devastation caused by drought and soil drifting. The advantages of tree belts and methods of starting them were demonstrated. A similar analysis of conditions in the United States since the settlement of the West, a fine film on insurance and two comedies were also shown. The same program was repeated in the evening and an interesting talk was given by Mr. Falconer, the demonstrator. A lively discussion closed the meeting.

A birthday party was held by the students of the Milo Dormitory in honour of their mistress, Mrs. Staley. Mrs. Staley was the recipient of a fine cup and saucer.

John Martin, Mrs. Martin and their daughters Mary and Lena all of Calgary, were visitors in town over the week-end.

Mrs. Joseph Kerr of Warton, Ontario is visiting Mrs. M. L. Haggins and other friends of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ivers spent a few days in Edmonton attending the funeral of Mrs. Iver's aunt.

Flight Sergeant William Henderson who has just returned from four years' service overseas, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. White of Queenstown. Miss Doreen White, their daughter of Saskatoon, is also visiting them. F/Sgt. Henderson and Miss White are to be married in the near future.

Mr. "Shorty" Hardwick of Kew is spending a few days in town.

Quite a number of the local people attended the organization meeting at Champion in connection with the Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. McEachern of the Prairie Farm assistance branch is making a check of four townships in this district. It is understood that most of the district will be eligible for the dry land bonus.

Miss Ethel Lewis of Retlaw is visiting with her aunt Mrs. Gordon Ivers. Miss Barghild Hiemark of Beachy, Sask., is a guest of her friend, Mrs. Don McCord.

We are sorry to report that Lawrence Smith has been under the doctor's care suffering from a throat infection.

The local Police Magistrate is going around with a red face these days. Seven of the local lads had to appear in court for failure to have a radio license and everyone of them knew that His Honor did not have one either at the time that the inspection was made.

Mr. and Mrs. George Evans of the Gleichen Call were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rom M. Allen last Sunday. When it comes to a nose for chicken and a good farm meal, an editor and a peachee are about on a par with each other. Other guests of the Allens included Mr. and Mrs. Menard and granddaughter of Gleichen, Mr. and Mrs. Maclin Allen of Calgary and Mrs. Mooney of Los Angeles, California.

The Foothills Health Unit will hold their regular pre-school clinic in the old municipal office on Monday, Oct. 30, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. A nurse's examination will be given and smallpox vaccinations, diphtheria inoculations, whooping-cough vaccinations will be given upon request.
